FEWER PERSONS PRODUCE FOOD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 24.—America's food is being produced by a diminishing proportion of its population, according to estimates secured from the census bureau.

The 1920 census already indicates a falling off in rural population and increases in the interurban sections.

Estimates place the 1920 population of the United States at about 105,000,000 people, or 15 per cent more than in 1910. It is also estimated that 49 per cent of the population is urban and that 51 per cent rural, it being understood that any town under 25,000 population is rural for statistical purposes.

Under the 1910 census 46.36 of the population was urban and 53.7 per cent was rural and if the 1920 estimates are correct, there is a decided drift from the farm to the city. In 1890 only 36.1 per cent of the population was urban and 63.9 per cent rural, while in 1870, the percentage was 29.5 urban and 70.5 rural.

While the percentage of increase in farm acreage during the decade is not known, it is believed it will be greater than that of 1910, when it was only 4.8 per cent as against 34.6 per cent in 1900, 16.3 per cent in 1890 and 31.5 per cent in 1880.

Undoubtedly there have been increases in improved farming acreage, but whether it has kept pace with the two preceding decades will not be known for some time. In 1910, the percentage in improved farm acreage was 15.46 per cent, an increase of but four tenths of one per cent over the 1900 figures, while in 1890 the percentage was 25.6 and in 1880 it rose to 56.7 per cent.

The high water mark in the acreage farm per farm since 1880 was reached in 1900, when the percentage was 146.2. In 1910 it was 138.3 per cent, in 1890, it was 136.5 per cent, while in 1880, it was 133.7 per cent. The figures for 1920 may be expected to approximate closely those of 1910.

The average farm acreage per capita is expected to show a slight shrinkage from the 1910 figures, when the percentage was 9.6, as compared with 11 per cent in 1900, 9.9 per cent in 1890 and 10.7 per cent in 1880. It was pointed out that the average quality of land now is poorer than the farm land of 25 years ago, due to the poorer quality of the land more recently opened. "This fact," an expert pointed out, "coupled with the diminishing supply of farm land per capita means that agriculture must be improved greatly or that the United States must import more or that the people of this country must eat less."

PESKY BED BUGS

Bedbugs lay an average of seven eggs per day. Under favorable conditions they hatch in five days of which two-thirds are females. They mature to adult size and are capable of laying in four weeks. How many bedbugs would you have in a year if you left one female or egg unmolested for one year? To rid the pesky bedbug, you can readily see how necessary it is to use a preparation that will kill the eggs as well as the live ones. P. D. Q. has been demonstrated by the leading hospitals, hotels and railroad companies that the safest and most economical way to stop future generations of bedbugs, roaches, fleas and ants is to use the new discovery

Pesky Devils Quicker "P. D. Q." A 1/2 package of P. D. Q. makes a quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas and cockles and at the same time destroy their eggs. Impossible for them to exist when P. D. Q. is properly used. Free, patent amount in every package to get the pesky devils in the hard-to-get-at places and save the juice. Special Hospital and Hotel size $3.50—makes five gallons of P. D. Q.—your druggist has it or can get it for you, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price by the Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Success of P. D. Q. has caused imitations; genuine P. D. Q. is never peddled.

REHEARSAL OF PAGEANT TODAY

A full dress rehearsal of the big pageant to be given at Forsyth Park under the direction of the recreation department of the city Thursday afternoon, was held this afternoon at Forsyth Park, and was largely attended.

One of the big scenes is China and an outline of the scene with those taking part follows:

Scene opens with a Chinese funeral director leads the procession. Fifteen Chinese men, dirty beggars, carry the ponderous catafalque which contains the coffin. Crowd follows carrying flags, banners, umbrellas, wooden tablet of ancestors.

People follow. Women in gay colors. Those nearest the catafalque wear white caps showing that they are the chief mourners. A few women wearing white caps will carry the catafalque. The funeral director leads the procession. Fifteen Chinese men, dirty beggars, carry the ponderous catafalque which contains the coffin. Crowd follows carrying flags, banners, umbrellas, wooden tablet of ancestors.

The Chinese funeral director leads the procession. Fifteen Chinese men, dirty beggars, carry the ponderous catafalque which contains the coffin. Crowd follows carrying flags, banners, umbrellas, wooden tablet of ancestors.

After the catafalque is deposited, the crackers exploded, the procession marches off the stage. A Chinese family appears on the scene in front of the stage. Father, mother and two children. Returning members of the family enter from different directions prostrating themselves before the family elder members first. Then the Kitchen God, who has been sitting on a pedestal during all of the scene, is taken down by the father and cast from the garden for today is the beginning of a new year so the usefulness of the old God has passed. The family then hunt about the garden and find a new Kitchen God who is then placed on the pedestal.

Next comes the ceremony of Ancestral worship. The elder of the family produces a wooden tablet bearing the names of the dead. This is placed below the Kitchen God and the family honors it by prostrating in turn before it. Offerings are next carried to the graves of the departed. On the return home more callers are received with prostrations. Numerous games are then played, i. e., dominoes, cards, smoking, etc. Money is borrowed from each other. A Chinese creditor appears while the games are going on; the creditor carries a lantern and moves from one to another. Some pay and some do not. The Chinese maidens who are among the visitors then do a parol dance.

The scene ends with the Feast of the Lanterns, when it is believed that the dead come back to life and mingle with the procession. About a dozen of those playing in the games leave the stage and return with lanterns on sticks, parasols, banners, etc. The procession is formed, they march to the grave yard, then snake fashion across the stage making their exit.

Newkirk Held for Grand Jury.

Charles Newkirk, aged 21, arrested last Friday for robbing a house in the town of Lloyd and locked in jail, was taken to Highland Monday, where he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harold A. Lent by a town constable. Newkirk was held to await the action of the grand jury, and brought back to jail Monday evening. He is charged with burglary in the third degree. Newkirk was sent to the boys' reformatory at Thiels, Rockland county, about four years ago, and ran away from there with another inmate.

MILL ADDS TO VARIETY OF WORK

Postmaster DeWitt Points Out How Industrial Prosperity of City is Boosted by Silk Plant—All Ready for Friday Evening's Visit.

In speaking of the official inspection of the new Kattermann & Mitchell silk mill on Cornell street, which is to be participated in by the members and friends of the Chamber of Commerce Friday evening at 8 o'clock, Postmaster DeWitt, chairman of the special committee, called attention to one of the most important of the many advantages to Kingston brought about by the success of the Chamber of Commerce in locating this new plant here.

The industrial prosperity of any city, said Chairman DeWitt, depends on its attractiveness to its industrial workers. In this way those who already live in the city remain as residents and workers instead of going elsewhere to find work and at the same time outside workers are attracted by the many opportunities for satisfactory and profitable employment.

Now this attractiveness depends not only on the number and size of the factories offering employment but almost equally on the number of different lines of work in which employment may be found.

The new silk mill not only adds another important industry to Kingston's list but it also opens up an entirely new kind of skilled employment. Not everyone prefers to be or is best fitted to be a machinist or to work in any one of the various trades which have been represented in Kingston's industries.

Silk weaving is a most attractive kind of work. It takes only a few weeks to acquire a reasonable degree of skill at this trade.

The young man who learns silk weaving is in command of a very remunerative occupation and one that is carried on under almost ideal working conditions, especially in an "up-to-the-minute" plant like the new Kattermann & Mitchell mill.

An increasing number of young men are learning the desirability of becoming skilled in silk weaving and are pleased at the steadily increasing contents of their pay envelopes as they become really skilled in this exceedingly interesting work.

Kingston will soon become an established center of skilled workers in the important silk industry.

The appeal of the silk weaving trade is also largely increased because of the fact that the Kattermann & Mitchell Company is one of the oldest and strongest in the industry, and has five plants in successful operation in other cities, the fine new mill here on Cornell street making the sixth of the Kattermann & Mitchell plants.

We are all looking forward to a very enjoyable visit to this plant on Friday evening.

Alcohol Permit Renewals.

Physicians, wholesalers, retailers and others who obtained permits to sell alcohol in any form before August 31 of this year, must make applications to the federal prohibition department during September for the renewal of their permits. Permits obtained before August 31 expire December 31. If the permits are not renewed during September the applicant may find himself without a permit for several months, it was said Monday, at the office of Charles R. O'Connor, state prohibition director, Albany.

You Are Vitally Interested In Good Telephone Service

Do you realize just how much the telephone means to you?

NO other medium of communication or transportation can take its place. It saves you thousands and thousands of steps. It bridges the miles between you and those you love — those who need you — those who have business to transact with you. It laughs at time. It is always near at hand day and night — a ready and faithful servant. It does the smallest and the biggest thing. It serves quickly and surely, often with results that mark the difference between success and failure.

The worth of the telephone cannot be measured in dollars and cents. You know that. You learned it long ago. It is a far different and far greater thing than is indicated by the price you pay for the service. And because it is, you are vitally interested in keeping your service up to standard — always available, in any quantity.

Our revenue under existing rates is not sufficient to meet the present requirements of our business.

We, therefore, have asked you to pay a reasonable advance in service rates.

You know the worth of your telephone service.

Your support of the new rates means that you want your service kept efficient, capable of doing for you the things no other medium can do.

And not only did Miss Hobbs reject all the supplications of the opposite sex, but she persuaded her girl friends to frown on the attentions of courting boys. She made these friends join her in her hobbies, such as barefoot dancing on the dewy grass at daybreak, and so thought to keep their minds off their made ex-acquaintances. Can you imagine a youth making a wager he could win the love of a GIRL LIKE THAT? It doesn't seem possible any man would take such a chance, but this one was a daredevil! How far did he get with his courtship? You may imagine, but to know you must

HARDING'S START

Marion Star a Feeble Creature at First.

The little staff of the Marion Star gathered the local news and wrote it; they solicited advertisements, often writing them as an added bait; they set type, attended to the "makeup," worked at turning or feeding the old small-cylinder Fairhaven press, and after the paper was off, got the carrier boys out. Then they unlocked the forms and distributed the type for use the next day, for there was only enough type for one edition. What schemes to raise money! The print paper always came with a slight draft attached to the bill of lading, and the express charges on the box of "telegraph plate matter" were C. O. D. Notes to be met at the bank; job printing to be done; occasionally a writ, an execution or a lien to be dodged; the editor going out the back door as the sheriff entered the front. It is veraciously recorded that once in mid-afternoon, near the hour of going to press, Harding had to go into retirement while his only pair of trousers were being repaired. Fortunately the repairs were made in time to get the paper on the press at the accustomed hour.—World's Work.

VALENTINE WINS THREE OF FOUR

By Telegram to the Freeman.
Poughkeepsie, Aug. 24.—Charley Valentine took the lion's share of the honors at the opening day of Poughkeepsie's 1920 Grand Circuit meeting Monday afternoon, piloting three winners in four events. He drove Bogalusa to a victory in "The Dutchess" trot for two-year-olds, winning the second and third heats handily after following Favonian home in the first, and also scored with Red Lancelot, and Peter Coley, in "The Hudson Valley" and "The Knickerbocker" 2:08 pace and 2:08 trot respectively.

The fourth event on the day's card, "The Union" 2:15 class trot for three-year-olds, went to Lucille Harvester, in eyelash finches with Hanna Harvester in the last two heats. Great Britton, the favorite, behaved poorly, placing seventh in the first heat and being distanced in the second.

The weather was a little cool for racing and the track not at its best, but the three-year-olds recorded three heats at 2:10 or better, Lucille Harvester stepping the final mile in 2:08 1/4. Red Lancelot made the best time of the day, 2:04 1/4, in the second heat of the 2:08 pace.

In the 2:08 class trotting a break cost Peter Coley victory in the first heat, E. Colorado slipping through to win, but the Peter the Great gelding came back impressively in the last two miles, winning without urging.

To beat 2:30 1/4, trotting, "Little May," ch. f. by Peter Wood, Ackerman of Saugerties driving, won. Time 2:24 1/2. "Lulu Wood," by Peter Wood, also driven by Ackerman, to beat 2:28 1/4 trotting, won. Time 2:20 1/4.

27TH DIVISION REUNION

Permanent Association To Be Formed at Saratoga.

Just two years from the date that General O'Ryan was advised that the 27th Division was to be employed as the spear point in the piercing of the Hindenburg line, the personnel of the division will assemble at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., for their first reunion.

September 12th, 1918, the date when the first details of the great attack that meant the turning point of the war, were made known will be fittingly celebrated by the former members of the division when they enter the noted Adirondack resort for a three day reunion. Officers of the division in conjunction with the Saratoga Springs Chamber of Commerce have completed plans for the three day program which will consist of conferences on matters of interest to the division, addresses by notable persons including General O'Ryan who will speak on his observations of cemeteries overseas, a parade of the division, dancing, carnival, theatre parties and a special entertainment by the 27th Division theatrical troupe.

One of the most important features of the reunion will be the organization of a permanent 27th Division Association and a determination of policy regarding future reunions.

Among the notables who have indicated their intention to be present are the Hon. Alfred E. Smith, the governor of the state, the Hon. James W. Wadsworth, chairman of the military affairs committee of the U. S. senate, Major General George W. Read who commanded the 11th Army Corps overseas, Brig. General Edward Lewis who commanded the 30th Division which served with the 27th Division in 11th Army Corps and other officers who served with both divisions.

Every organization of the division will be assigned headquarters in the various hotels at Saratoga Springs. Efforts are being made to secure reduced fares on railway and steamboat lines for those who expect to attend the reunion while special rates at hotels and boarding houses will be in effect during the period of the reunion.

an open letter to the people of Kingston

For the first time in the history of Kingston, this city is to be treated to a genuine premier by one of America's foremost motion picture producers.

D. W. GRIFFITH, the man who produced "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "Hearts of the World," "Broken Blossoms," and other sensational successes, has just completed arrangements with George Gildersleeve, manager of Keeney's Theatre, whereby Kingston is to be treated to one of the greatest events in the entire history of theatricals.

On Thursday evening, August 26th, Mr. Griffith, accompanied by several of his famous stars, including Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Hay, Creighton Hale, Burr McIntosh, Lowell Sherman and others, will come personally to Kingston to be present in Keeney's Theatre to witness the event.

The name of the new production is "WAY DOWN EAST," on which Mr. Griffith has been at work for the past ten months, and has spent more than $760,000 to make it the most perfect picture he has thus far produced.

Some idea of the enormity of the production may be gained from the announcement that it will take three hours to show it, and that it is composed of more than 14,000 feet of film—one of the longest and most gigantic productions in the history of motion pictures.

Owing to the length of the program, the performance will start promptly at 8 o'clock next Thursday evening. You will not want to miss a single scene in this latest Griffith masterpiece, so be there on time.

This will be the first time Kingston ever has had a genuine Griffith "First Night," as "WAY DOWN EAST" will be shown here before it opens at the 44th Street Theatre in New York. It will be an event to look back on with a feeling of pride that Mr. Griffith has selected this city for his initial showing of his latest feature film.

Seats will be placed on sale at Keeney's Theatre Ticket Office

WARNS POLES OUT OF SILESIA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Aug. 23.—Dr. Walter von Simons, German foreign secretary, who is now in Switzerland, has issued a warning that Germany may go to war against Poland if Upper Silesia is occupied by the Poles and Germany is unable to get any satisfaction from the allies, according to a dispatch from Milan quoting from an interview the German official is said to have given to a correspondent of the Italian newspaper Stampa.

The following statement was attributed to Dr. Von Simons by the Italian newspaper:
"If the Poles occupy Upper Silesia
under the pretense of being attacked, Germany must warn the allies.
Then, if no satisfaction is obtained,
Germany must declare war on Poland."

DRAIN FARM LAND

This Fall and Prepare For Bigger Crops.

The ever increasing demand for greater crop production, and the rapidly increasing farm values make it imperative that every acre be cultivated; that old abandoned land be reclaimed and the low places be drained and made productive.

Before the war the farmer had difficulty in selling what crop he did produce on even his best land but since then conditions have changed.
He now finds a ready market for all he can raise, and cannot begin to supply the demand. Hence the necessity of putting the whole farm on a producing basis.

It is only recently that the farmers are beginning to wake up to the real advantages to be derived from good drainage. Drainage increases the temperature of the soil, makes it warmer, drier, and porous, thus permitting the light and air to penetrate to plant roots. Seed will germinate quicker, growth is more rapid, crop matures earlier and yield is much heavier.

In many sections of the country land that was formerly producing nothing more than bullfrogs and mud crabs, since being drained is now producing full crops and has increased in value from $25.00 to $100.00 or more.

High cost of tilling,
high price of farm labor,
and the fact that a farmer from tilling
with the modern farm
tractor can quickly cut open
a field of the excess water,
the ditch has the advantage
of removing the surface
water that often does so much damage. It will remove by seepage the water from the surface of all land contiguous to the ditch. It acts as a receiving drain for the water which percolates through the porous substratum, thus aiding under drainage
as well as surface.

The fall of the year is the best time to cut ditches. Land drainage then can be cultivated two or three weeks earlier in the spring. Often this spells the difference between crop success and crop failure.

Get ready to ditch and drain your land just as soon as the present crop is harvested. Prepare now to get the most out of your farm next year.
Take advantage of your opportunity to make money while there is a demand for farm products and while the prices are up.

SPENCER'S BUSINESS SCHOOL

Successful Institution Now Entering
on Its Thirty-Second Year.

Spencer's Business School, corner
Wall and John streets, is now entering upon its thirty-second year with the brightest prospects in its history.
During the past year the number of students exceeded those of any previous year in its history and the outlook for 1920-21 is very bright indeed.

Last September the school removed into new and handsome quarters where every accommodation has been provided for pupils. The well-lighted and splendidly ventilated class rooms
and study halls are ideal in every respect, and there is everything in the school's environment to elevate the minds of the pupils, and there is also an atmosphere of satisfaction prevalent throughout the entire institution.

In the school's long history and experience there have been graduated upwards of 10,000 young men and women, all of them enthusiastic about the school, the kindly interest shown by the instructors, and the modern and better methods employed in aiding them to complete substanc-ial courses of study. President Kelly is in receipt of hundreds of letters from former graduates and pupils,
giving voluntary expressions of gratitude for the valuable training received and for the uniform courtesy extended by those in charge of the different departments.

To parents, patrons and others who are interested in the work of a first-rate business school, made famous by its long record of successes, the Spencer's Business School cordially extends an invitation to inspect its modern quarters and superior equipment and methods. The fall sessions will begin from September 1st to

Old Pal Pete:
This is a P.S. to the letter I wrote you on the buzzing limited. Kid, for a fact, I'm hitting 13 on making up Camel advertisements. And, I'll say it right here! Porter, give us the lights!

Just skimmed another swell Camel fact! Stop this: Guess I've smoked a million Camels! Pete, they never tired my taste yet!!!! And, old socks, put Camels to the test! Then you'll wise up that Camels leave no unpleasant cigarette aftertaste nor unpleasant cigarette odor!

That's some smoke news, I'll say, when you been trying to fuss the "straight" brands! As, old shor, you ought to know, they gave you a lacing!

What makes a dent on my disposition is that while Camels are the mildest cigarette and the mellowest cigarette any man can buy they've got all the "body" you ever heard tell of!

Why Pete, I've got as many new selling ideas about Camels as there are hairs on a puss-Kitty's tail!

Drop your old lamps down here, — how's that for blazing the joy Camels pass out!

FRANKLIN'S REQUEST

Shows Clearly How the Dollar
Interest Grows.

How the dollar invested works for the individual himself has been best illustrated by that first great American teacher of thrift, Benjamin Franklin. In 1791, he bequeathed
$1,000 to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and to the City of Boston as a mark of his appreciation for having appointed him as agent in England at the "handsome" salary of $2,000. And to make his bequest really valuable with his great foresight, Franklin provided in his will that this $1,000 should be put out at 5 per cent interest for 100 years; that at the end of that time $1,321 of the fund accumulated should again be put out at interest for another hundred years and then the fund be divided one-fourth to Boston and three-fourths to the state.
Let us see how well that $1,000
of Franklin's has worked. At the end of the first hundred years it had grown to $1,629.72. It was then divided in accordance with the will.
$407,480.48 was set aside for "Public Work" and $1,222,240.24 was started on its course of automatic interest for another hundred years. That was in 1891. On January 31, 1918, this sum had grown to $2,673,965.15 and at this rate of increase the fund should amount to at least six million dollars
when the second period is completed and may be considerably more.

TROLLEY SERVICE AT COST PLUS

President Wilson's Commission Reports That Electric Roads of Country Should Receive Five Percent Return on Investment—Against Public Ownership—Strikes "Intolerable"—Electric Roads in Dire Straits.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 24.—Recommendations for drastic changes in the operation of street railway systems doing business in cities throughout the United States, were made in the report of the federal electric railways commission to President Wilson, made public here today.

The commission appointed by the president about a year ago, at the request of secretaries of commerce and labor, on the grounds that "the industry as a whole is virtually bankrupt" and that the continued shrinkage in the hundreds of millions of electric railway securities threatened "to embarrass the nation's financial operations," unanimously recommended that:

First—Street railways everywhere should serve the public at costs, patterning themselves in this respect after lines in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dallas, Montreal and other cities.

Second—Furnishing rides at cost, operating companies should be allowed a fixed return on their investment, the value of which to be determined by agreement.

Third—Street railway management, employees and the public itself, have a solemn duty to perform, each to the other.

Fourth—It is intolerable that the transportation service of a city should be subjected to occasional paralysis, whether by strikes or lockouts. All labor disputes should be settled voluntarily or by arbitration and the award of such a board should be final and binding on both parties.

Fifth—Public ownership and operation are undesirable save where private operation has failed to give the public the service it demands. However, the right of the public to own and operate not only their car lines, but all public utilities, should be firmly recognized.

Sixth—Wherever car lines are extended into outlying territory in a way to benefit private property, the costs should be borne by the private interests to the extent of benefit acquired, and such extensions should not be included in the total valuation of the railway system upon which a fair profit is guaranteed.

Seventh—Street railway franchises should not be for any set period time nor the franchise be charged fixed. Conditions should govern both.

The whole railway enterprise, the report states, is in dire straits. The letter to the president, signed by Secretary of Labor Wilson, and the then Secretary of Commerce, William Redfield, calling for the appointment of the commission, stated that "already fifty or more interurban systems representing a considerable percentage of the total electric railway mileage of the country, are in the hands of receivers. The commission's report is among the most important New York, Providence, Buffalo, New Orleans, Montgomery, St. Louis, Birmingham, Montgomery, Pittsburgh, Memphis, Fort Wayne, Des Moines, St. Paul, Spokane and Chattanooga.

The commission named by the president follows:

Charles E. Elquest, president of the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners; Edwin F. Sweet, assistant secretary of commerce; Philip Gasden, representing the American Railway Association; Royal Meeker, commissioner of labor statistics, department of labor; Louis H. Weible, general counsel, war finance corporation, representing the treasury department; Charles W. Beal, banker representing the Investment Bankers' Association of America; William D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America; George Baker, mayor of Portland, Ore., representing the American Cities League of Mayors.

Notwithstanding the varied personnel of the commission, the report was signed by all.

The report estimates from $175,000,000 to $200,000,000 annually will be necessary if the future needs of the industry are to be met properly.

Restored confidence on the part of the public, it emphatically stated, is one of the vital necessities of restored credit.

The plan of the commission is that riders shall be furnished to the public at the lowest possible actual cost, while the company shall be guaranteed a fixed return on its holdings. No recommendation was made for fixing the value, but the importance of valuation "as the basis for the financial return of the company" was emphasized. This, it is suggested, might also be the basis upon which lines may if desired be taken over by the municipality.

AT THE THEATRES.

Wanda Hawley at Keeney's—Stuart Holmes at Auditorium.

Some women meddle in other women's love affairs just because they aren't occupied with any of their own. That was what ailed Miss Henrietta Hobbs. She thought she was a very modern and intelligent woman, and she honestly felt that her mission in life was to persuade other women to her views. But such queer views! She nearly succeeded in wrecking two delightful romances, but when a romance came into her own life, she stopped meddling with other people's love affairs. "Miss Hobbs" with clever Wanda Hawley in the title role is the attraction at Keeney's tonight. It is a brilliant comedy by Jerome K. Jerome, author of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

Miss Hawley is supported by Harrison Ford, Jack Mulhall, Helen Jerome Eddy, Walter Hiers and others. Burton Holmes adventures stories, Kingdon news and comic cartoons are added features. Tomorrow Charles Ray in "Red Hot Dollars," the story of a boy's grit, a girl's devotion, and a couple of old men who learn that love is better than hate.

Stuart Holmes and Ellen Cassidy in "Love Honor and Obedience" is the attraction at the Auditorium tonight. Thrills, coupled with romance and adventure, are the high lights of this big drama. News weeklies and cartoon comics are also programmed. Robert Warwick in "Human Driftwood" will be shown tomorrow.
